Sell your property privately with Property in Moot and showcase your home to over a million potential buyers every month. It's really simple to advertise

The most common way to sell a home, used in 90% of sales, is to use a local real estate agent.

The agent will list the home, market it, and coordinate showings with other agents and potential buyers.

Estate Agent will also help you evaluate offers, negotiate terms with the buyer, and ensure the deal goes through.

While selling your property can be a big decision, Property in Moot makes the process of selling your home privately very simple. Through this dedicated South African-property practitioner website, you will be able to advertise your listing to millions of viewers who use this platform monthly. You have the option of listing the property yourself, or engaging the services of one of our helpful consultants to list the property for you.
